

Love British Food!

Putting the "000" Back into Food

 Printer version

KENWOOD

 THE NATIONAL TRUST

 ARAMARK

Just Eat More
(fruit & veg)

To advertise on this e-newsletter please call 020 7840 9292 or to email us: click here

Welcome to our August 2009 e-newsletter...

British Food Fortnight – are you ready?

Plan a family outing during the event [\[click here\]](#)

Book a delicious British meal [\[click here\]](#)

Invite a chef into your children's school [\[click here\]](#)

Win Kenwood cooking equipment [\[click here\]](#)

Free guides for shops, pubs and restaurants on taking part [\[click here\]](#)

1. Supermarket Watch

Bringing you the latest news on British products in the supermarkets...

Read more

2. Inspiring school of the month

Planning a locally sourced meal triggered a plethora of food projects at

St Francis Church of England Primary School in Oxford... Read

more

3. Producer of the month

Sir Michael Colman, Summerdown Pure Mint.

'This is mint as your Grandparents and Great-Grandparents would have known it' reads the slogan for Summerdown Pure Mint. Founded by Sir Michael Colman (of mustard family fame), Summerdown Mint produces Black Mitcham mint which has not been grown in Britain for over fifty years... Read more

4. Nothing to Grouse About

Contrary to popular belief, grouse is not an exclusive meat. The public perception that it is only to be enjoyed by those wielding a 12-bore shot gun on a Yorkshire grouse moor or patrons of high-end restaurants, could not be more wrong... Read more

5. Competition

Win some Summerdown Pure Mint Chocolate Peppermint Creams by emailing us the correct answer to the following question: How many things do Love British Food suggest you can do during British Food Fortnight? Clue: see lovebritishfood.co.uk The first correct answer received wins!

Have a cherry happy summer! With evocative names like Merton Glory, Bradbourne Black and Frogmore Early, cherry trees once covered thousands of acres across Britain. 90% of our cherry orchards have been lost but English cherries (be warned, the majority in shops are imported) remain the perfect picnic fruit.

Having trouble printing this e-mail try our printer friendly version.